

NOVA: MASI ON BOARD

The design and test team of Austrian paraglider manufacturer NOVA welcomes Marcell Schrittwieser on board. The 31-year-old now supports Philipp Medicus, head of design, and lead test-pilot Mario Eder. Weighing in at only 65 kg, Schrittwieser will in particular take care of the smaller sized wings. He joins NOVA with a solid record in paragliding: In addition to his passion "acro" – he was Austrian Champion in 2009 – Marcel is an accomplished XC pilot and has experience as a test pilot..

He lives in Innsbruck and studies sociology. NOVA managing director Wolfi Lechner says: "Masi has already worked with us on testing the Ion 3. In addition, he was with us when filming the "Performance for All" video in Monaco. Having seen that he fitted in really well with the team whilst working on that project, it was a logical move to take him on board when Mike Küng left us. Masi fits perfectly with NOVA."

www.nova-wings.com